Rosemont Acacia Park to Benefit from National NeighborWoods Month

Sponsored by The Home Depot Foundation

Detroit – October 1, 2006. The Greening of Detroit today announced that it will plant/maintain 6 trees as part of their Rosemont Acacia Park Planting. This event is one of more than 100 regreening efforts throughout the country being promoted during October, which has been declared National NeighborWoods Month by the national nonprofit, the Alliance for Community Trees (ACT). The Greening of Detroit is a member of ACT's NeighborWoods Network.

The City of Detroit obtained a DTE grant to plant trees at Flinstone Park in the Rosemont Acacia Neighborhood. The Greening will be working hard with the community to beautify the neighborhood. This will be one of our smaller planting but we'll still provide a big tree planting experience! The Greening of Detroit is celebrating NeighborWoods Month with street tree plantings planned for every weekend in neighborhoods throughout the city of Detroit. Each of our NeighborWoods Plantings will focus on replacing trees that have been lost to the Emerald Ash Borer, an exotic boring insect that feeds on ash trees and has killed more than 50,000 street trees in the city of Detroit.

"It's great to be working on an important regreening effort at a time when other organizations are doing so as well," said Rebecca Salminen Witt. "Part of our goal is to draw attention to the good work being done at the grassroots level all across the country to improve urban and community forests."

The Greening of Detroit's celebration will take place as follows:
Oct 14, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.
14300 Rosemont

"Having local organizations like The Greening of Detroit participate in National NeighborWoods Month helps us show the cumulative effect of a burgeoning urban and community forestry movement," said ACT Executive Director Alice Ewen Walker. Founded in 1993, the Alliance for Community Trees is a national coalition of 97 nonprofit organizations engaged in urban and community forestry. Its members are dedicated to grassroots community greening, public education, policymaking, job training, environmental design and other activities that support better urban forest stewardship.

Strategically planted trees contribute to energy conservation, improved children's health, increase property values, lower crime rates, save municipalities money through savings in stormwater management infrastructure, and encourage shoppers to linger longer. For example, children in neighborhoods with fewer trees have five times less lung function and higher school absences. Shaded streets require about 60% less sealant roadwork than unshaded streets. It is estimated that for every $1 a city invests in trees, it receives up to $3.74 in benefits.

NeighborWoods Month is sponsored through a generous grant from The Home Depot Foundation. "National NeighborWoods Month offers a unique opportunity for people to understand the contributions of trees to the health, beauty and livability of their communities," said Kelly Caffarelli, executive director of The Home Depot Foundation. "By partnering with ACT and local NeighborWoods organizations like The Greening of Detroit, The Foundation is able to further its goals of investing in the overall health and success of our communities."
